J. C. Rockwell's Sunny South Co.

Those of our citizens who patronize the theatre and others who want to see a good colored show, will be glad to hear that J. C. Rockwell's Sunny South company, the colored show that made such an emphatic hit on their last appearance here three years ago, will be the attraction at the Opera House, Norway, Saturday evening, April 20th. There isn't much to say about this company, save that it is a good strong one, composed of twenty-five colored people, who do everything funny that darkies can do so well and keep the audience in a constant state of laughter and excitement from start to finish. On their former visit our citizens liked it the best and patronized it the largest of any for many years. They say say it is even better now, every feature being new, refined and up-to-the-minute. It is absolutely clean and during the entire performance there will be nothing said nor done that will bring a blush to the brow of the most fastidious lady in the land. There is plenty of fun in the performance. in fact it was built for laughing purposes only and it is generally conceded to be one of the funniest shows since time began. It is a mysical performance, wedded to the most tuneful musia one would care to listen to, full of ginger and life, with not a dull moment from start to finish.

The organization is accompanied by a solo concert band and a superb orchestra. The band will head the Koontown parade, taking place at 4 30 p. m.

Prices of admission have been placed at 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Seats are now selling at Stone's Drug Store.

Chapman Concert.

On Thursday evening, April 25th, at Grange hall.

It is wonderful how quick our people realize what a great opportunity our town is to have in hearing these splendid artists that Mr. Chapman is to bring to us. In January when Mr. Chapman played these same artists, hundreds were disappointed in not being able to get good seats. Mildred Potter is one of America's best mezzo-soprano-contraltos. Miss Josefa Scaller is undoubtedly the greatest lady violinist who has ever played in Maine. John Barnes Wells, tenor, is the funniest man on the stage. His group of Irish songs are worth the price of the tickets. Mr. Chapman's presence at the piano will assure success. This concert is given under the auspices of the Norway High School and tickets are for sale by the High School students. Reduced rates on all railroads.

Norway Municipal Court.

WM. F. JONES, JUDGE.

Cole in Portland and brought into court, where he pleaded "guilty," and was bound over on bail of $200. Failing to furnish bail, he was committed to jail to await the May term of the Supreme Court.

Merrill Wardwell of Oxford and Roy Dunbar of Oxford were arrested by Sheriff McNeil and brought before the court, Friday morning, for intoxication. They pleaded "guilty" and were fined $5 and costs, amounting to $9 and $10 respectively, which they paid, and were discharged.

Base Ball is On.

Now that the basket ball season has come and gone, let us drift on to the real thing in all our national sports, base ball.

Base ball is here again and you see both young boys and men throwing, batting or chasing a ball. The local high school team is to open the season Friday, April 19th, at the Fair Grounds, when it will cross bats with South Paris high school. The team has several members of last year's team including M. Russell, manager, and considered a very fast 2d baseman. E. Packard, the choice for captain, is to share the slab-work with Roy Snow. Both of these men have everything a pitcher needs to be a success. Shepard should prove a star at short this year. 1st and 3d are to be fought for and the gardens will be taken care of by three recruits. Yeaton is lost through graduation. Barker's position as catcher seems to be uncertain, but there are two men who are well able to hold this position down left vacant by Barker's graduation. The team loses C. Dunham, the champ hitter and crack outfielder, who will be missed, Haskell, last year's captain, is lost by graduation.

The Norway town team is doing a little practice but as yet no team has been picked. Probably the team will not commence to play until the middle of May. Norway is due for a first-class ball team this year and all that will be needed is support by the public. The management declares they will put in some very strong dates if he sees the public will show its support to the games as they feel it should.

Early Morning Alarm of Fire.

An alarm of fire was sounded about two o'clock Tuesday morning, when the night watchman, E. C. Hutchins, discovered a large amount of smoke coming from the rear of C. S. Foster's barber shop. The fire alarm did not work and the Cummings' whistle was brought to use.

A line of hose was carried from the hydrant on the corner of Main and Deering streets to the rear of the building, where the fire was confined in the basement, but by the time the water was turned on the fire had been got under control by the night watchman using fire extinguishers.

Foster's barber shop and I. W. Waite's variety store were thoroughly smoked but the damage was slight.

This fire evidently started in the basement of the barber shop, and it is presumed to have been caught from a cigarette stub that may have dropped from the billiard room through a hole in the floor to the rubbish below. It's timely discovery was fortunate, and had it not been discovered a serious fire no doubt would have resulted.

The Proper Course

Information of Priceless Value to Every Norway Citizen.

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with backache, urinary disorders or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement will add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statements of nearby residents who have been permanently cured?

Mrs. S. F. Harlow, Skillings Avenue, South Paris, Me., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times and I have always found them to be a good kidney remedy. I was in poor health some time ago and felt that my kidneys needed a tonic. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had taken a few doses, I received relief." (Statement given July 25, 1908)

RE-ENDORSEMENT

On July 19, 1911, Mrs. Harlow was interviewed and she said: "I am glad to confirm the statement I gave three years ago, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I still use them frequently, and they keep my kidneys in a normal condition." 16 17

Getting to Colorado.

By F. H. MAXFIELD.

Chicago, twenty-two hours wait, a long tiresome tedious wait with scarcely anything to relieve the monotony.

Our time table reveals the fact that we are eleven hundred and thirty-seven miles from Portland. If you deduct fifty-five miles from that the distance from West Paris to Portland, it will be readily seen that the former place is ten hundred and eighty-two miles away. We are indeed "strangers in a strange land."

Our tired bodies forbade any degree of sight-seeing, so I shall make no attempt to pass comment upon Chicago and what is to be seen there. We were only too glad to board the train at eleven o'clock and contine our journey toward the setting sun.

We cross the Mississippi at 5 a. m. the next morning while still in the land of nod. The writer has crossed the "Father of Waters" five different times and never seen it yet, always happening along during the night when seeing was out of the question.

It is broad daylight when we leave our berths, Saturday morning, and take our first look at Iowa.

The country is gently rolling prairie land, dark brown or nearly black or to soil which is extremely fertile. A few streams of water are crossed, the current of these being generally sluggish as the country is so generally level that there is only a small fall to the water.

Generally speaking the entire state is nearly tillers except along the river and creek bottoms. As a result heavy showers and rains are accompanied by heavy washing of the soil, to an extent, indeed hardly conceivable to a New England man.

On plowed land when neither stubble or grass protect the land, great gashes are cut in the earth in many places where the soil is washed into the stream with the result that they are seldom in a clear state.

The contrast between these and the western creeks and rivers and those in Maine is striking in every particular. No grassy borders, no gentle slopes here, no crystal like water, no dimpling pools, no laughing cascades, no rippling rapids. Instead, a slow, muddy, sluggish current moving along between two precipitous walls of earth, sullenly making its way to the ocean.

Along in the middle of the afternoon we leave Iowa by crossing the Missouri into Omaha, Nebraska, and at six. p. m., reach Lincoln, the state capital, and home of W. J. Bryan, probably the most esteemed and the most noted of any living American.

We remember that we were supposed to reach Gypsum, Colorado, our final destination, at eleven o'clock the same night and for fear of any disquiet in the minds of those awaiting us send a telegram announcing our delay and probable time of arrival.

We incidentally discover that we have been losing time during the afternoon and that is a familiar incident by their time though not a circumstance to what happens while we sleep or try to sleep Saturday night. Our train is moving in two sections, one of fourteen cars, the other sixteen. Even on the level prairie fourteen to sixteen loaded passenger cars is no mean load for our locomotive.

We have become so accustomed to the usual noises at night on board that we beguile ourselves with the pleasing fancy that this night we will sleep the sleep of the just.

Vain delusion! There is no rest for the weary. Our journey throughout the live long night is one horrible nightmare of discordant groans, grunts and squeaks, dismal toots from our iron horse, jerks, starts and stops of the lazy train.

We are on the rear section as ill luck will have it and this performance is occasioned by the erratic movements of the forward section to the utter misery of the passengers.

At one o'clock I seek the smoker and a pipe for reverie.

Brakeman passing through solicitously inquires why I am not abed, to which I reply, "Why wear out the pullman beds looking for an unknown quantity, to wit—sleep?"

But the night passes as such nights will, with one train laboring slowly over the plains of eastern Colorado.

During the night we have passed through the most weston town of Nebraska, namely, McCooks, where we are supposed to set our watches back one hour, and do so in our memory instead. At Chicago we had performed the same service to our time pieces and by the change at McCooks we find ourselves just two hours behind state of Maine time.

Eastern Colorado is an old story with the writer but our better half had no such luck. I would I could describe her sensation when she looked upon the passing country; I would I could do justice to the scene itself. Both beggar description. To eastern eyes here indeed was the scene of intense desolation.

Sunday, October fifteenth, a leaden sky from which scurrying sheets of hail, snow and icy rain, alternated, driven by a high shrieking wind cold enough to freeze the marrow in your bones. Landscape bare and barren as a kitchen floor, broken only on rare occasions, when during the spring some stream had cut one of those glaring gashes in Mother Earth, to which preferred in comments on Iowa.

No roads, no living vegetation that is worthy of the name, certainly nothing which by the most vivid imagination could be called green.

Sage bush and cactus are everywhere as far as the eye can reach. Balls of dried up Russian thistle or terrible weed go galloping across the plain, driven by the gale; occasionally fleeting glimpse of a prairie dog or jack rabbit in view. Flat, barren, dried, desolate. Yes, so it is, but every one has a barbed wire fence around it and it is a safe guess not one acre could be bought for less than fifty dollars and some would bring one hundred and fifty. Why? Just because this is Colorado and that soil seen through the car windows, watered by nature or by man, possesses almost inexhaustible stores of fertility that will produce crops of such magnitude that one would believe that the age of miracles had returned. And it will be watered never fear.

However land and farming will occupy some of my future articles so we will not discuss them now.

Presently we see an occasional ranch home and at rare intervals we pass through villages of the plains, of which more hereafter, as a Colorado village is as characteristic of the west as a great many other things are and just—well, different than anything of the kind in Maine.

Now we are looking for the mountains as we are only two or three hours from Denver. And here they are, shooting up out of the plain like beacon stars. Fifty or sixty miles away they look five or ten only. From now on they will be constant companions, with us always, so long as we remain in the state. Further details of the physical features of the state will be forthcoming at an early period in these articles as a special paper cannot begin to do justice to the subject.

Scheduled to arrive at Denver at 7 a. m. we get there at 11.15. We had counted on two hours of looking around. Vain hope I hustled into a waiting train, the journey again commences.

Here we will leave the reader. The next part of the trip is only three hundred and fifty-three miles but by far the most interesting thereof. Our next article will be devoted to the end of the journey.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Violently Insane.

Edwin J. Fuller of Hebron Station has been violently insane for several days and arrangements are being made to carry him to the insane hospital. He had acted strangely Friday, and Saturday afternoon was found by Geo. Bradbury lying in the road near the Minot line. Mr. Bradbury aroused him and got him to ride. But he became so violent that Mr. Bradbury was obliged to get help to get him home.

The selectmen hired two men to care for him. The family consists of Mr. Fuller, his wife and two children. One of the children is spending the winter with an aunt in Massachusetts. The other lives in a camp on what is known as the Sodom road. Their buildings near Hebron Station were burned last fall.

Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Devoe Takes Least Gallons: Always.

Paint Devoe; it's the cheapest paint in the world: never mind the price; it may or may not be more. Less gallons will paint the house; and the paint will outwear anything.

Ship wear; you've got to wait, to find that out. It covers more; you haven't got to wait to find that out.

It's the cheapest of all; do matter about the price.

Mr Frank A. Morse, West Rutland, Vt., says: "An old painter, who had painted my house lead-and-oil a good many times said 12 to 15 gallons Devoe." I got 15; it took 6½, with 1½ of oil.

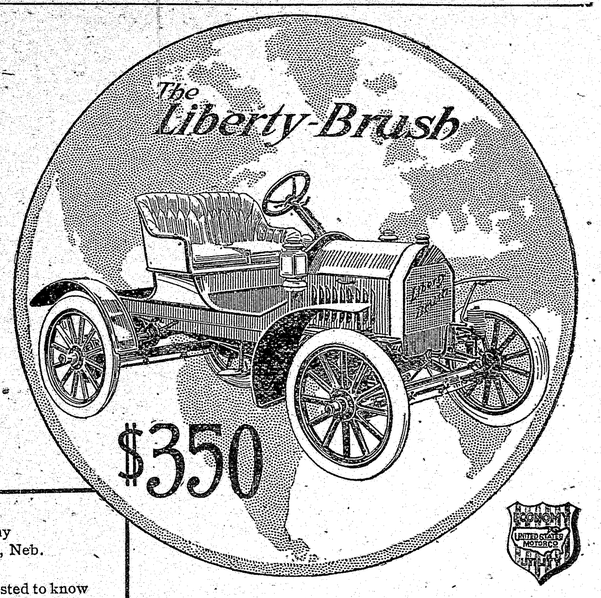

Mr William Maughan, Central Rutland, Vt, bought 9; had 3 left.

That's how.

It fills a World Need

The Liberty-Brush is a time-saver and a money-maker for every man whose business success depends on quick, certain and regular transportation from place to place.

The T. G. Northwall Company
Omaha, Neb.

Gentlemen:

You will probably be interested to know of the performance of the Brush Runabout which I have been using for the last six months, on my route out of this town. My daily trip consists of a little over 26 miles, about half level and half hilly.

Herewith is the average expense per week:

Gas, 7½ gals. @ 14c	$1.05
Cylinder oil 1 qt. @ 15c	.15
Transmission grease, 3 lbs. @ 10c.	.30
Total	$1.50

When I covered this same road with horse, the average cost was $5.00 per week for feed, and at the same time it took the greater part of the day to cover the distance. With my Brush Runabout however, I make the run in from two and one-half to three hours, reaching home for mid-day dinner and have the afternoon for other work. I am thus able to do business in the afternoons which pays me much better than spending my time on the country roads.

I think there is no better machine on the market than the BRUSH for the R. F. D. Service, principally because they operate at such a minor expense. I have driven over 6,000 miles.

Yours very truly,
Oehmig Lillie.

Mr. Lillie's experience is one of hundreds of similar tributes to the efficiency of the Liberty-Brush.

Its small cost—$350—and its remarkably low maintenance expense—a cent a mile for two passengers—make it the ideal car for men of average income.

Mechanically perfect, the Liberty-Brush contains every feature—on its smaller scale—of large and high priced automobiles. Selective transmission, shock absorbers under Truffault-Hartford Patent, double side chain drive and the single cylinder motor so highly favored in Europe, are some of the features.

Let us demonstrate its usefulness to you.

The Hebron Squad.

There are but four men left from last year's team, Capt. Pratt at second base, and Carll, Bartlett and Drake, who played in the outfield. Hebron has a good string of pitchers. Perkins and Fuller of last year's team are showing good form, while Kraneychuck, a left hander from Williston academy, seems to be a find for Hebron. Nedeau and Young, who played on Gould's Academy last year, look good at short stop, while Winston, a new man from South Boston high, seems to be having things his way at third. Barrows, who played on the second team last year at first base, looks the most promising at present for that position. Catcher's position left vacant by Baker's graduation is being well filled by Carll and Staples, who although inexperienced, are showing up well Coach, Bearce.

"Men do not counterfeit counterfeits, nor imitate that which is worthless or unknown."

The Only Successful Treatment FOR Liquor and Drug Using

The KEELEY TREATMENT removes the craving for Liquor and Drugs and leaves the man master of himself. IT IS THE ONLY TREATMENT THAT WILL DO THIS and the only one that cures alcoholic and drug inebriety. This treatment has restored over 400,000 men and women who were addicted to liquor and drugs; among the number are over 20,000 physicians. It is the PIONEER in this work and has many imitators, but no rivals or competitors as far as RESULTS are concerned.

During the THIRD OF A CENTURY that this treatment has been continously and successfully administered, nearly two thousand imitations, called "cure" concerns have started out as our competitors; today scarcely a dozen survive. Some of them so closely imitate our claims, literature, etc., to such an extent, as to indicate predetermined intent to deceive. They appear under almost every conceivable name, fool the people for a little while and pass on into oblivion, forgotten by the public, but not by the unfortunates whom they deluded and duped into trying their methods. The one regretable feature is that they should be able to deceive any through false pretentions, or with their absurd and preposterous claims, for in many cases they drive all hope and confidence out of the lives of those whom they have thus misled.

If you have need to take treatment for the Liquor or Drug addiction, investigate THE KEELEY CURE, a treatment that is know the world around, and which is recognized by the public and medical profession as THE ONLY SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT for these addictions. Look up some of our former patients, whom you will find in every community. They are healthy, happy and prosperous; many of them will tell you that they would not be living today if it had not been for the KEELEY TREATMENT. All business and correspondence with us is strictly confidential and all inquires answered in plain sealed envelope.

Landmark in Otisfield.

Every New England town has its landmarks of distinction which the inhabitants point out with pride either for some historical connection or for the beauty of scenery.

They are perhaps lakes, rivers, hills or ancient buildings and ruins.

Otisfield is no exception and if you are a stranger there you will soon hear, or rather see, Bell Hill, the most prominent landmark, crowned with the old white church facing the setting sun. The church is no longer used for meetings but it is a spot crowded with memories of other days and of voices long silent.

And there is Scribner hill, that most delightful ridge of land where the rarest views can be had.

Then Porcupine, rugged, old untamed Porcupine of blackberry fame still only the home of its prickly namesakes.

Porcupine is used as a weather prophet by inhabitants in its vicinity for when it puts on its cap rain is sure to follow and no fair weather can be expected till the cap is removed.

Then there is Oak Hill which contains a neighborhood all by itself the dwellers of which are known as Oak Hillers. The road leading there-to from Spurr's Corner is a record breaker for hills. A traveller upon it has the same sensation as an ant upon a scrub-board.

Not to be forgotten from the list of landmarks is Sylvester's hill on whose lonely summit of abandoned fields stands the lofty graceful "King's pine." Old pine, you who have looked down upon the sower and the reaper now behold your own numerous progeny springing up on all sides!

Another famous place in Otisfield is College swamp of trout brook fame. None but fishermen often venture into its gloomy wilds and unless one follows the windings of the trout stream he is apt to be "turned around" at once.

It is strange that the first settlers built their roads over the highest hills. The road over "Great Hill" is certainly the "limit" for road building, dangerous at all times and almost impassable at others.

The White mountains can plainly be seen from all Otisfield's hills and the wind always blows on them. One resident of a hilltop farm said, "The wind is company for us in winter." Another less optimistic farmer of the highlands said, "The wind always blows except when we go out to winnow beans, then it stops."

As there are famous landmarks, so also there are famous characters and families about which are woven many a tale or saying.

Otisfield is rich in folk-lore, and a Dickens, or a Washington Irving, or our own Holman Day might write many a romance about its quaint characters and events.

Death Called.

J. Howard Holden died April 10th in the General Hospital of Rochester after an illness of eight weeks. He was 27 years, 8 months of age. Two years ago last December he was united in marriage with Nellie Durell Hayden, a former Norway girl, who was a teacher in the Industrial School of Rochester.

He is survived by his wife and young son, Hayden Holden, who is eight months old; also by a mother and sister living in New York.

For the past five years Mr. Holden has held a responsible position in the office of the Stromberg-Carlson Co. He was a young man of sterling qualities and highly esteemed by his many friends.

Dr. J. W. Stewart, Dean of the Theological Seminary, officiated at the funeral. Six young men from Stromberg were his pall bearers. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was at Riverside Cemetery.

A. R. Pennock, East Waterford, picked up a 1912 chain ring in the street last Saturday. He left it at this office and it was returned to Carroll A. Bartlett, its owner.

Albert M. Rollins, Esq., of Brockton, Mass., announces in the Enterprise of that city his position on the Roosevelt-Taft candidacy. Under conditions which he defines he will support the former. These conditions are on the judicial recall and his interpretation of it is reasonable and sensible though to our mind far fetched and improbable. Mr. Rollins has consented to preside at a meeting in support of E. B. Keith, a Roosevelt delegate to the National Republican Convention. Mr. Rollins was at one time principal of the Norway High school and has many friends here.

An auction will be held on Tuesday, April 23, at 10.30 a. m., at the farm of L. A. Brooks on Fore street, formerly known as the Rowe place. A lunch will be served at noon. Albert D. Park of South Paris will be auctioneer. Among the things to be sold are, horses, cows, heifers and a lot of farming tools. For particulars, see ad in another column.

Junior Exhibition.

The annual Junior exhibition was held at the Norway Opera House, Friday evening. The attendance was very good.

The evening's program was opened with music by the high school orchestra. In time with music the junior class led by Theodore R. Frost as marshal, took their places near the stage. At the opening of the exercises prayer was offered by Rev. R. J. Bruce, pastor of the Second Congregational church.

Lillian Hoy recited, The Sign of the Cross. The story told of the young maiden Mersis, who at the time of the persecution of the Christians by Nero, was cast into prison to await death in the arena. She was given the opportunity to save her life and receive untold wealth at the hand of her lover, Marcus, if she would renounce the faith. He came to her for his answer and as the doors of the cell cringed for the last time when Nero demanded the answer, her reply to her lover and to Nero was that she would not give up her religion but would die for her Christ. Marcus, moved by her wonderful faith, pronounced himself a Christian and went by her side to the arena, a martyr.

Clifford M. Buck spoke on, Real Power, giving in a general way the true essentials of power and bringing out and proving that truth is the one real essential.

The Legend of the Organ Builder was given by Aura B. Cook. It told of the story of an organ builder, who, after building an organ of the best quality was to be married in this particular church. On entering with his bride and finding that the beautiful organ ceased to play, forgot his bride and through bitter disappointment left the country. After a number of years he decided to return to his wife. On entering the village he saw a funeral procession and inquiring found it to be his bride. Following as a mourner he went to the church and hearing the music of this beautiful organ, passed away at the side of the bier and both were borne from the church side by side.

The New South was the title of the oration given by Merle Alton Russell. He told of the return of the Confederates to their native cities and towns after the Civil War, and finding the country in a devastated state, plunged into the work of rebuilding and replacing the country to its former state, which when accomplished, made a New South.

After the wand drill, Eva Gertrude Richardson recited, The Light on Dead Man's Bar, which represented a young girl in the absence of her father who was a lighthouse keeper, turning the wheel during a stormy night that the light might revolve as usual so that the sailors at sea would be able to get their bearings, and by doing so she saves two score men, among whom was her dearly beloved brother Benny.

Old Mother Goose, by Mary Elizabeth Drew, was the story of an old lady giving her all that her daughter might have a good education, finally being deserted by her daughter she becomes a beggar and in after years recognizing her daughter at the railroad station she follows her to a music hall where her daughter is the Prima Donna and in the excitement of the moment she claims relationship before the audience assembled, whom her daughter dismisses that she may attend to the wants of her mother who is dying.

Captain Titus' Ride, by Harold Clifford Polock, was the comic reading of the evening, and received hearty applause. This was the story of a Captain driving a span with a load of hay, which was run into by an automobile and his nautical expressions applied to the same were exceedingly funny. The old Captain used all kinds of seafaring terms in the navigation of the load.

I Used to Know Your Ma, by Dorothy Frances Noble, was the story of an old man telling his sweetheart's son about his mother as she used to be when he knew and loved her. The boy was before the judge, he recognizing him as the son of his former sweetheart, gave him an account of his mother, her courtship, and her beautiful life and in closing told the boy his home should be his.

Immediately following the Dumb Bell Drill Theodore Roswell Frost gave, The Rock of Chickamauga. This was a historical reading and explained how the battle in the Appelachians was won by Stonewall Jackson remaining firm, becoming in very truth, the Rock of Chickamauga.

The next on the program was piano solo by Marian Emma Gibson, which was finely rendered, Miss Gibson receiving an encore.

The Lost Word, by Eula Katrina Bicknell, was the story of a young girl in the days of paganism, condemned to die unless she renounced her faith in her Christ. This she refuses to do although her lover, who has riches and fame, begs her to live for his sake, but her loyalness to her Christ converts him to the cause, and he to renounces paganism under penalty of death.

'Kubeh,' A Tale of the Assyrian Desert, by Sara Elizabeth True, was the story of a beautiful, noble Arabian horse, the queen of the desert, who sacrifices her own life that she may save her master's.

The exhibition proved a very successful one one, and all who took part did their part well. The special features of the program were the dumb bell drill and the wand drill. The wand drill was given by ten young ladies dressed in long, white flowing gowns, and to the rythum of the music went through drill maneuvers. The ones who took part in the drill were Ruth Cummings, Marion Haskell, Alma Shepard, Amy Losier, Marion Noble, Pearl Foster, Pearl French, Olgar Brown, Margurite Welch and Ellen Ames.

The dumb bell drill was by ten boys and included Phil Young, William McDaniels, Harry Lasselle, Philip Foss, Clarence Stevens, Richard Stiles, Harold Thomas, Windsor Chute, Clayton Heath and Roland Nevers. The boys wore white trousers and dark blue sweaters with a white band bearing the year "1914" in blue. The drill was a very pretty one and well executed.

The High school orchestra which furnished excellent music consisted of:—Ruth Cummings, piano; Marion Haskell, 1st violin; Clara Shepard, 2nd violin; Richard Stiles, cornet; Pearl French, cornet; Merle Russell, drums; Harry Lasselle, trombone.

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings; my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BENJ. H. STANSBERY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

PUTS END TO BAD HABIT.

Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of better feelings end "the blues." Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25c at the Noyes Drug Store. 14-17

The automobile fraternity will be delighted to learn that Casco and the Poland Spring people are to improve the traveled way between Portland, Poland Springs and the White Mountains. The State, the town and the Rickers furnish the funds. That's the better way. Let's have regard to the "ancient rights and dignities," in the control of the highways if not in other respects. The State and the nation is taking on by far too much authority; the town is "the folks."

Hunting Experience of Orren Heath.

Orren Heath of Fryeburg, famous as a bear hunter for many years, died April 8, at the age of 84 years.

He has always lived beside old Kearsarge, or "old Kear," as he called it, a few miles from Fryeburg. He was a familiar figure riding along the streets, coming to the village in summer for household supplies, with wagon filled with blueberries picked from the mountainsides. Mr. Heath was a famous hunter, as was his father before him. He would often set a bait for foxes and stay in a tree all night to watch for them. But his great success was in bear hunting.

"Fifty years," said he, "I have hunted on Green Hill and 52's my record." He had many stories to tell of thrilling encounters, and hand to hand conflicts with enraged female bears.

"Oh, no; I never was afraid of them," he said, when asked if he was ever frightened. "But John Smith came up with me and got a little shaky. You see it was this way. I took my muzzle loader and with Smith and my little boy, started for the blueberry ledge. The first thing I see was a bear looking at us through the bushes. I gave it a shot and it fell squealing. Before I could load, up peeked another cub, and there stood the old bear not seven rods off."

"My grief! didn't Smith's boots rattle down over the ledge! I can hear that tune now. I tell you he ran like a 'painter,' but the boy had more presence of mind. He hollered like a sardine: 'Pelt'r, pa, pelt'r!' I had nothing but light shot, and there she stood slapping and growling and opening her mouth. At last I got a shot and downed her, and then I shouted to Smith to bring back his powder for mine was gone. He came back and I took what powder he had'nt spilled, and then I finished her.

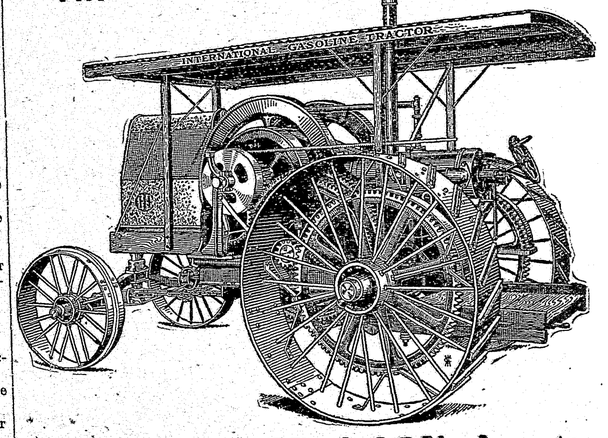

"I asked Smith what made him run so. He said his legs were never made to see his body abused."

At his home Mr. Heath had a huge skin of which he was particularly proud.

"There," said he, as he brought it out, "there—that is a 400 pounder. He did a good deal of chawing up there and I don't want much harder tussle with any thing than I had with him."—Maine Woods.

SWIFT'S LOWELL ANIMAL FERTILIZERS

MAKE INTENSIVE FARMING A REALITY.

They make it possible to increase the yield from a given acreage thereby saving much in labor and time. They produce a profitable crop and provide for future years by laying up a reserve fertility.

Swift's Fertilizers are soil builders as well as crop producers, especially adapted to the soil of New England farms. They are based upon animal matter—Bone, Blood, Meat—to which has been added Potash in such proportions as to produce a perfectly natural plant food.

PLEASED WITH SWIFT'S POTATO GROWER.

"I have used Swift's Potato Grower for several years, and am much pleased with it. Raised 350 bushels potatoes per acre this year. It is very dry and runs through the planter without any trouble. I used one ton to the acre."
G. D. BLAKE, Atkinson, Maine.

SWIFT'S WITH A LIGHT COAT OF MANURE.

"I am sending you pictures of my Red Cob Ensilage Corn, raised on your Animal Brand, which stood from 10 to over 14 feet high. On six acres I have harvested sixty-five loads, all that I could haul with a pair of horses that weigh 2500 lbs., after it had been dried as thoroughly as it could be done. The loads would have weighed 1½ tons each. I used a light coat of manure and 400 lbs. Animal Brand per acre."—WILBUR J. BUSWELL, Bangor, Me.

Trip to Moosehead Lake in Winter.

The Editor Goes Fishing. Norway to Greenville. The Location and Description of Camps.

We left Norway for the big lake, Friday, the 1st day of March. An over night stop was made in Lewiston in company with Hugh Pendexter, the author. Dinner the next day was taken at the Shaw House, Newport, where we fell in with Peter McIntire, who is wintering at that hotel. At Dover we called on Hon. J. F. Sprague and Liston P. Evans of the Observer, and in charge of Frank A. Hagar, guide, left on the evening train for Greenville. The train was two and a half hours late, caused by too much snow on the track and too little steam in the engine, but at 10.05 p. m. we reached the Moosehead Inn. The following day a pair of horses and a long sled with plenty of spreads to keep us warm took us up the Lily Bay stage road to where the Thorofare Snow shoe Trail commenced. Here an Indian and Pale Face with sleds were in waiting to haul in the dunnage. The snow was soft and deep, fully 40 to 50 inches on a level but in the trail on slot, as it is called, the snow was well packed and the long narrow sleds were easily hauled. The load was right round one hundred pounds to the led. The harness is a shoulder strap or breast-plate and the hands hold the thills to the sled to pull or hold back on as required. Snow shoes had to be worn. It's about three-fourths of a mile to the lake—mostly down hill—from there to the camps two miles on the ice, a part of the way the trail was bushed, but you could easily tell when you got out of it.

The Thorofare Camps are now owned by Theron E. Heald, p. o. box 321, Greenville, Me., and are some ten or eleven miles from that village. These camps were built by a sporting club some 17 years ago and called the Night Hawk Club, and some three years ago it came into the possession of W. M. Shaw of Greenville who sold them to Mr. Heald.

We were assigned the Tom Lynn camp of the nest of camps, which are on a point of land extending out from Sugar Island and choking the Thorofare. It's through this channel the fish pass and it is open water here a month before the lake clears of ice in the spring. It's unquestionably the best spring and fall fishing ground in the Moosehead region.

The Tom Lynn Camp has a large fireplace in the corner with slate hearth and mantle and a set of antlers are above on which you hang your socks and leggings to dry over night. The jams are made of selected shore rocks of various shapes and colors. The inside walls are covered with green burlap, and light is admitted by three half windows and a skylight. There are two wide beds, a stove and plenty of other furniture in it.

There are eight other similar camps here beside the Big Camp. Each of the ten camps has a tall brick chimney. There is a guides' camp, kitchen and dining room, store-house, hovel and the hen yard with shed.

The point is covered with tall spruces, pines and birch trees. There is a good pier and a small island near the Thorofare. This island in high water is not wholly submerged. There is a sheltered bay back of the pier between the islands used for a harbor for the summer fleet of boats.

For the first ten days of March the thermometer registered from zero to 20 degrees below each morning. The snow was more than a foot deep on the roof of the camp and come up to the window sills on the walls. Little wind could enter our abode but a generous amount of fire wood was necessary to keep the camp warm. Indian Newell cut this and delivered it to our door on a moose sled and piled high the wood box every night. Fire in the stove did not cease to burn while the cold spell lasted even if the poor Indian worked over time.

A flock of 72 hens and several roosters, "Henrietta," the dog and "Tom," the cat, Newell, the Indian, and Mr. and Mrs. Heald constituted the family with "Hoge" Harrington, guest, on our arrival.

The hens were of the Orpington strain and were exceptionally good ones. There was another strain of hens called the Khaki which stood well in the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. Heald. These biddies averaged three dozen eggs per day and they were large ones. A dozen eggs weighing 30 ounces and were selling in Greenville for 25 cents per dozen the same as eggs that weighed ten ounces less per dozen. We recommended eating the big eggs.

On this island there are other camps. "The Palmetto" owned by the late Mrs. Armstrong. In this group there are six or seven buildings. "The Porcupine" is owned by a sporting club with headquarters in Bath. Mr. Stafford of Mars Hill has a comfortable frame camp here; also the Greenleaf Camps on Stearns Point. Dr. Rowell of New York is to build a camp on Dollar Island this season.

Peruna Secrets You Should Know

Golden Seal, the root of the above plant, is a very useful medicine. Many people gather it in our rich woodlands during the summer. Few people know how valuable it is in dyspepsia, catarrh, and as a general tonic.

Many thousand pounds of this root are used each year in the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna. This fact explains why everybody uses Peruna for catarrh.

OXFORD.

High School Social.

The scholars of Oxford high school gave an entertainment and ice cream social at Sons of Temperance hall on Friday evening, April 12th. The entertainment was given wholly by the scholars with the exception of last number, which was given by the principal, John L. Dyer. The opening number was a piano duet by Herman and Lottie Sawyer, followed by a reading by Doris Andrews entitled "A Kentucky Courtship;" next, Verna Denning sang "Sweet Red Roses;" then came a declamation by Fred Russ entitled "Ah Sin," followed by the song "Molly Lee" by Marion Starbird. Fred Gammon came next with a humorous recitation on "Grocery Store Philogophy." The seventh number was a song by Ethel Scribner, "When the Autumn Leaves are Falling," and next came a reading, "Asleep at the Switch," by Elvira Edwards. The last was a humorous reading by Prof. John L. Dyer on "The Heathen Chinee."

The selections were nicely given, every number received hearty applause, and there were many encores. The scholars sold ice cream and cake after the entertainment and then enjoyed a social for the remainder of the evening. Principal Dyer and the boys are making plans for a baseball team this summer, and this entertainment was for the purpose of raising money to start a fund for Oxford High School Baseball club. It was a success and a neat little sum was realized.

Stomach Troubles Relieved.

Those people who suffer with the distressing symptoms attending chronic dyspepsia will be interested to read the following voluntary testimonial:—

"I have kept the L. F. Atwood's bitters in the house for over twenty years and have received great benefit from them. It does seem as though I could not keep house without them. In the past I have had a very bad stomach trouble, and could hardly do my work. After taking a few bottles of the true L. F. Atwood's Medicine, I became much better. My niece has also been greatly benefitted by them. We both are willing to recommend the medicine to all who need a remedy for dyspepsia and constipation." Mrs. C. S. Dunning, R. F. D. No. 2. Your esteemed and reliable correspondent whose efforts we all appreciate in keeping the public informed of the active and interesting news of our place, is on a visit to her relatives and old home in Colebrook, N. H.

As a life long Democrat I deeply regret that the Democratic party should make the prohibitory law an issue during a presidential year. Situated as I am I hear the low grumbling of a large number of Democrats that say they will not support their party at the September election as the issue is free rum on the prohibitory law, and if the same feelings prevail in other places as here, the Democratic party will be buried so deep next September that they will not be heard from for some years to come. The presidential election in November will find every Democrat to his party.

Mrs. Fanny Dunham Hamilton, wife of Harry Hamilton of Greenfield, Mass., is on a flying visit to relatives and friends in this place. Speaking of our Finn population here, she tells me that her home place is nearly surrounded by Polish emigrants mostly engaged in farming. In one section they plant an acre or more of onions. Nothing unusual to see several Polish women down on their knees weeding the weeds from the onions. Then another farmer will have one or more acres planted to tobacco. The women buy and wear the same class of shoes as the men.

Dr. Eugene Andrews, formerly of West Sumner, now engaged in a large practice of medicine and surgery in Brunswick, was here Monday and met Dr. Yates in consultation at America Andrews', reports himself and family well and his looks showed it. He remarked, sarcastically, according to the hospital reports, that Paris must have suffered an epidemic of appendicitis, for there were more cases reported from the two hospitals, Portland and Lewiston, than anywhere else in the State, says it has been a rare thing to have a surgical case of appendicitis in Brunswick and vicinity for many years.

The Finns have bought and occupy 64 farms in the town of Paris and as many more in the adjoining towns. They have a settled minister of the Lutheran denomination settled here and own a large hall, formerly known as Dunham's hall, where they hold meetings and entertainments. They are a good class of emigrants, industrious, hard workers, and pay their bills. Many of the emigrants and settlers are now filing papers for naturalization. The women are equally as hard workers and as industrious as the men. Nothing unusual to see the Finn women working in the field with their husbands. They are really first class and a desirable class of emigrants.
